

Kevin Black

WEBINAR SERIES

“LEADING THROUGH CHAOS”

Despite their efforts in strategizing, many companies are still not prepared to deal with uncertainty in execution. Plans often do not go according to plan, resulting in confusion, distraction, and ineffective execution. This 60-minute webinar provides several solutions that leaders and managers can take back to their companies and assist them in improving performance and increasing overall employee engagement, despite the chaos they may be facing. The goal is to help them mitigate unnecessary errors in execution, so they can better drive strategy from the bottom-up, even during times of uncertainty.

Learning objectives:

- Identify two models of strategy and the implications to leader performance.
- Examine the concept of mental capacity and the need for essentials when communicating, planning, and leading the team under stress.
- Understand the need to connect language directly to strategy and to grant initiative.
- Examine the influence of behaviors on leadership under times of chaos.

Deliverables:

- Concept Model template to support critical and strategic thinking (PDF).
- Purposeful Communication template to employ with team (PDF).
- Behavioral Impact checklist to employ with team (PDF).